Founded in 1729, Ruinart was the first champagne house, and began a very special relationship with the art world that continues today. In 1896, André Ruinart commissioned the Czech artist Alphonse Mucha to create a poster that would showcase the house. Since then, the house has gone on to commission some of the world's finest contemporary artists and designers, giving them free reign during their residencies to pay tribute to its cuvées, its history, its heritage and its crayères: the impressive chalk cellars that are listed as a Unesco World Heritage Site.
