March 2021

Return to Coworth Park for a much needed staycation

Dorchester Collection's luxury country house hotel will re-open outdoor dining on April 12, with the hotel and spa re-opening to guests from May 17

Coworth Park, nestled within 240 acres of picturesque Berkshire parkland and just 45 minutes by road from Central London, provides the ultimate escape to the countryside. Spend relaxing days exploring the rolling fields and woodland; enjoy picnics in the wildflower meadow and al fresco dining on the sun soaked terraces; and check-in to secluded accommodation.

Al fresco dining with views of picturesque parkland

Making the most of the hotel's al fresco dining re-opening on April 12, The Barn terrace provides relaxed rustic dining with far-reaching views over the estate bridge, whilst the Drawing Room terrace overlooks the meadow and rose garden. Anticipating the British weather, both terraces are covered, with blankets and heaters for chillier evenings.

A new selection of menus have been created for both The Barn and the Drawing Room ready for re-opening. The Barn offers a delicious brasserie style menu which changes seasonally, with signature staples; The Barn burger, sticky short rib, cheddar, brioche bun and chunky chips; Coworth Park beer-battered haddock, chunky chips and minted peas; and signature Coworth Park chocolate mousse with hazelnuts, salted caramel and praline ice cream. The Drawing Room's all-day menu features classic British flavour combinations and a commitment to quality ingredients, with dishes including: Coworth Park sausage roll with piccalilli; salt-aged Waterford beef fillet with horseradish potato, spring vegetables and red wine sauce; and sticky toffee pudding with vanilla ice cream.

A place to call home

When Coworth Park opened over ten years ago, the original estate's stables were transformed into an enclave of rooms and outdoor spaces surrounding The Barn. Modern and open-plan stable suites
