

LOS ANGELES

THE BEVERLY HILLS HOTEL

One day itinerary: Culture

With a huge number of museums, showstopper institutions like REDCAT, and internationally recognised live music venues, it's not hard to see why LA continues to draw the artistically minded to its sunny shores. With this one-day itinerary, culture vultures will quickly discover that the city of Los Angeles is more than just a glittering beacon for the stars of stage and screen.

To get to the first stop of the day, take a taxi from the hotel for the 30-minute journey to Hollyhock House.

HOLLYHOCK HOUSE

T: 0323-913-4031 | Barnsdall Art Park, 4800 Hollywood Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90027

Hollyhock House in Barnsdall Art Park was Frank Lloyd Wright's first project in Los Angeles, designed for heiress Aline Barnsdall. Envisioned as the centrepiece of an arts complex, the estate came to represent the style Wright dubbed, "California Romanza" after the musical style denoting freedom. Today, visitors can explore the house and gardens and enjoy striking views of the Hollywood Hills.

Then, take a 20-minute taxi ride to The Norton Simon Museum.

NORTON SIMON MUSEUM

T: 0626-449-6840 | 411 West Colorado Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91105

This museum collection – widely agreed to be one of the more outstanding private art collections in the world – spans over 2,500 years and encompasses around 12,000 objects. See notable works by Van Gogh, Degas, Renoir, a wealth of Southeast Asian artists, as well as attending talks and film screenings and visiting the beautiful Sculpture Garden.

The next stop of the day, The Broad, is a 20-minute taxi ride from the museum.

THE BROAD

Opened to the public in 2015, The Broad (named after philanthropists and art collectors Eli and Edythe Broad) is a relative newcomer to LA's contemporary art scene. The striking, modern building, which is itself a work of art, features two floors of exhibition space. Explore a 2,000-piece strong collection with works from art world heavy-hitters like Andy Warhol and Cindy Sherman, as well as contributions from emerging artists.

REDCAT is a one-minute walk around the corner from The Broad.

REDCAT

T: 0213-237-2800 | 631 West 2nd Street, Los Angeles, CA 90012

The Roy and Edna Disney/CalArts Theater, a multidisciplinary contemporary arts centre in downtown LA, is more commonly known by its playful moniker, REDCAT. Considered by many to represent the zenith of avant-garde art in LA, REDCAT offers a programme of exhibitions, performances, film screenings and literary events showcasing the work of international and local artists.

Then, walk for one minute to the Walt Disney Concert Hall next door.

WALT DISNEY CONCERT HALL
